Talks Between Ike, Macmillan Are 'Great Success'

'Big 2' Write Secret Orders On Key Issues

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (UPI) — President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan today were reported to have spelled out secret policy directives on key world issues in Europe, the Middle East and Asia aimed at pinning down the revitalized British-American partnership.

After the windup of the Big Two's four-day meeting, informants said a number of solid written understandings lay hidden behind the generalities of their joint 800-word communiqué.

In their 11-point statement, Eisenhower and Macmillan Sunday announced the United States will supply "certain guided missiles" to help hard up Britain streamline its defenses in the atomic age.

They also offered to swap limited observer facilities with Russia at future nuclear weapon tests — tests which they promised to restrain to lessen the risks of causing genetic damage as a result of radioactive fall-out.

Eisenhower also pledged U.S. cooperation with the military committee of the Baghdad Pact.

Eisenhower and Macmillan promised to support U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's quest for a settlement of the disputes with Egypt over the Gaza Strip, the Gulf of Aqaba and the Suez Canal.

Macmillan told a news conference the talks had been a "great success" because "we've reached a number of conclusions on some large issues. We've tidied up a lot of points, and we've set in motion methods of better cooperation on questions still unresolved."

I. Eisenhower and Macmillan signed understandings on ways of handling jointly certain international problems. These presumably include American readiness to give or lend-lease missiles to Britain, American willingness to join in easing Allied bars on nonstrategic trade with Red China and

Strike Ties Up British Industry

Prospects Of End To Walkout Bright

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's booming aviation, automobile and heavy machine tool industries were hit by the full force of a million-man walkout today. But prospects of a speedy over-all industrial peace brightened.

Strikers were told by union bosses new talks might lead to a settlement of wage disputes.

The walkout in the factories is the first stage of a "snowball" strike patterned to involve three million workers in 4,300 plants by April 6 if a 10 per cent wage increase demand is not met. If it spreads that far it will paralyze plants turning out 40 per cent of Britain's exports.

Stoppage Began Saturday

The stoppage began Saturday and involves workers known here as engineers. They range from unskilled workers operating light switches to craftsmen running complicated machinery. Since plants normally are closed over the weekend, the full effect on production was only felt today.

Labor Minister Iain McLeod has appealed to employers in the industrial plants to meet with the unions.

The strike is being masterminded by the Confederation of Engineering and Shipbuilding Unions, which also has been running a strike of Britain's 200,000 shipbuilding workers for the past 11 days.

Bosses Meet Shipbuilders

Confederation bosses met shipbuilding employers at the Ministry of Labor here, raising hopes that peace is in sight in that industry. Industrial sources say that if a settlement is reached in the shipyards, peace would probably follow in the industrial plants within a day or two.

Most observers felt that a compromise 5 per cent hike would be agreed on eventually. This was the amount granted last week to 370,000 workers on the state-run railroads who also had asked 10 per cent.

Also nearing the crisis stage, although not to the point of strikes yet, were wage talks involving more than 2,620,000 other British workers, including one million in the building trades, 700,000 coal miners, 450,000 municipal workers, 250,000 in cotton textile plants, 120,000 in railway shops and 100,000 dockers.

Youngstown Man Held For Fatal Shooting

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (UPI) — Police held Archie Walker, 44, today in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, 39, Sunday night in an apartment where they lived.

Sgt. Dominic Yannerella said Walker admitted the shooting and said it followed an argument over $160 of earnings he had given the victim and wanted returned.

Ike To See That British Get Atomic Missiles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower intends to go as far as the law will allow in making atomic warheads for guided missiles accessible for British use in emergencies.

Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan reached a final "agreement in principle" during their talks at Bermuda that "certain guided missiles will be made available by the United States for use by British forces."

This was one of the major results of the conference. Eisenhower returned to Washington Sunday.

The British reportedly are behind the United States in the development of guided missiles and atomic explosives. They lack money for large development programs. In fact, they are now having to reduce their military manpower to have money.

Eisenhower assured Macmillan that the United States would help Britain reduce its forces and at the same time maintain a high level of firepower.

Wants Israelis To Sign

At the same time, informed Arab sources said Egypt was unwilling to sign any pact keeping the U.N. Emergency Force on the demarcation line unless Israel agrees to stationing of UNEF troops on her side of the frontier. Egypt is also demanding that Israel give up the El Auja demilitarized zone, between the Egyptian Sinai Desert and Israel's Negev, as provided in the 1949 armistice.

Israel is expected to refuse both Egyptian conditions.

Diplomatic sources believe Nasser may have convinced Hammarskjold Egypt's still secret plan for operating the canal is consistent with the six principles endorsed by the U.N. Security Council last October.

These principles include unrestricted transit through the canal for ships of all nations, respect for Egypt's sovereignty, insulation of the canal from national politics, agreement between Egypt and canal users on tolls and charges, a fair portion of revenue for canal development and arbitration of disputes.

65 In Futile Hunt For Missing Man

Approximately 65 persons took part in the futile search Saturday afternoon for George D. Eichler, 76, of the Pidgeon Road, south of Salem, who wandered away from his home Feb. 24.

Sheriff Russell VanFossan was in charge. Civil Defense workers, two groups of Boy Scouts, Army Reserve unit members, sheriff's deputies and nine mounted horsemen participated in the hunt.

The entire area surrounding Eichler's home was searched to no avail. Sheriff VanFossan said.

A clay pit near the aged man's home was searched last week.

U.N. Raises Last Sunken Vessel In Suez Canal

Egypt Still Hasn't Opened Waterway To 10,000-Ton Ships

CAIRO (UPI) — A U.N. salvage team today raised the sunken tug Edgar Bonnet, the last obstacle to passage of 10,000-ton ships through the Suez Canal.

The 841-ton tug was to be towed away during the next several days but there was no official word yet when Egypt will open the 103-mile waterway to 10,000-ton ships, about 75 per cent of the canal's normal traffic before it was blocked during the invasion last fall.

The 1,461-ton Egyptian frigate Abukir still partially blocks the southern entrance to the canal, but the 10,000 tonners can skirt this obstacle. U.N. officials have said the Abukir should be cleared by April 10 and that the waterway will then be open to all ships that formerly used it.

The Egyptian authorities announced today the canal is now open to ships of 4,000 tons. Previously, nothing larger than 2,500 tons could move through. Already a steady trickle of small ships is going through the waterway, paying tolls to Egypt's nationalized Suez Canal authority.

Canal Concessions Seen

U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's mission to Cairo meanwhile neared its end amid indications Egypt would make some concessions on operation of the canal. But the outlook on the disputed Gaza Strip remained dark.

The Egyptian Middle East News Agency said Hammarskjold and President Nasser had reached an understanding on the future of the canal. A spokesman for the secretary general warned that the report should be "treated with caution." He said the U.N. official was in no position to make any formal agreement with Egypt since he was only the "bearer of good offices" and not a party to the canal dispute.

Wants Israelis To Sign

At the same time, informed Arab sources said Egypt was unwilling to sign any pact keeping the U.N. Emergency Force on the demarcation line unless Israel agrees to stationing of UNEF troops on her side of the frontier. Egypt is also demanding that Israel give up the El Auja demilitarized zone, between the Egyptian Sinai Desert and Israel's Negev, as provided in the 1949 armistice.

Eisenhower assured Macmillan that the United States would help Britain reduce its forces and at the same time maintain a high level of firepower.

ForbIDDEN To Give A-Bombs

The conference communiqué did not say how the British are to get the atomic warheads for weapons they receive from the United States. U.S. law forbids the President to give or lend atomic explosives to any foreign government.

The administration has decided however, to store atomic warheads in Britain under U.S. control. They could be quickly fitted on the missiles provided to the British.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles reportedly believe the President would have the power to turn warheads over to the British quickly in the event of atomic war.

Other accomplishments of the meeting which both sides considered highly successful, included:

1. A joint declaration that the United States and Britain would be willing to give to the United Nations advance notice of their nuclear tests and to allow both "limited international observation" if the Russians would do so.

Last Town Hall Program Is Tonight

Thirty thousand miles of travel through 12 western states by Hal H. Harrison provides the basis for his natural color film, "Beyond the Shining Mountains," which he will show tonight at 8:15 in the Salem High School.

Tonight's program is the final presentation in the season's Town Hall series.

Most of the species of wildlife encountered by Lewis and Clark on their expedition through the Northwest 150 years ago have been photographed by Harrison.

Also to be seen are highlights of two expeditions: a pack trip with horses and mules over the rugged 100-mile Lolo Trail in Idaho and a three-day boat trip through the Missouri River canyon and the badlands of Montana.

Harrison has appeared in Salem on previous occasions. He presented motion pictures of "Mt. Desert Isle," "Penn's Woods," and "Florida Everglades."

State Building Program Speeds

Hospitals, Schools, Prisons Being Erected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's program of new construction at hospitals, prisons and schools is moving along at a fast clip, state officials say, with some buildings already underway and more to come this year.

The program is financed by a 150 million dollar bond issue approved by the voters in 1955.

Appropriations are limited to 30 million dollars a year from bond funds. The first was made in January, 1956. The Legislature this year plans to appropriate 60 million more for 1957-58 construction.

Here is a summary of where the money is going:

Construction has started on a 150-bed reception and diagnostic center at the Columbus State School, at a cost of $650,000. Officials are ready to ask for bids on a $1,400,000 centralized food preparation and service unit.

Drawings are nearly completed for a 150-bed central reception and classification center addition to the juvenile diagnostic center. Other drawings are well underway for a 100-bed psychiatric treatment institution for delinquent children. Each will cost $1,500,000.

The division of correction will advertise next month for bids on an 11 million dollar medium security reformatory at Lebanon.

Contracts for a million-dollar, 175-bed center for the mentally retarded at Apple Creek State Hospital have already been awarded, and officials of the Division of Mental Hygiene are ready to advertise for bids on a new 100-bed patient building at the same institution.

Appropriations for other hospitals are:

Hawthornden, $1,000,000 for a 20-bed patient building and $585,000 for expansion of central facilities; working drawings are underway.

Cleveland State Hospital, $750,000 for a 100-bed medical and surgical building; basic drawings nearly completed.

Dayton, $1,500,000 for a 100-bed children's psychiatric unit; drawings under way. Next Tuesday, bids will be opened on a $250,000 project to complete a 100-bed adult receiving hospital at Dayton.

Tiffin, $750,000 for a 120-bed reception and intensive therapy unit; bids will be asked next month.

Gallipolis, $750,000 for a 100-bed medical and surgical building; advertising for bids April 15.

Shippingport Atomic Power Plant To OperateU.S. Peacetime Atomic Energy Program To Take Big Stride

SHIPPINGPORT, Pa. (AP) — America's peacetime atomic energy program, still in the fledgling stage of development, is slated to take a major stride into the future sometime this year.

The same awesome force unleashed in the atomic bomb is to be harnessed for large-scale production of electricity for homes, shops and factories. Duquesne Light Co. is nearing completion of its pioneer nuclear power station on the outskirts of this little western Pennsylvania village 25 miles northwest of Pittsburgh.

Originally, it was hoped the plant could begin operating in mid 1957. But the complexity of the project has set back the target date until possibly next November or December.

Many years of intense research and millions of dollars have gone into the historic project.

Electricity from atomic energy is an established fact. The Shippingport plant is unique because:

1. It will be the first in the United States to use nuclear energy for production of large quantities of commercial electricity.

2. It will be the first such plant in the world operated by a private company and devoted exclusively to commercial power.

LIFE RETURNS TO NORMAL IN GAZA—An Arab native, using a camel for power and a crude wooden plow, tills the soil of his farm in the disputed Gaza Strip. Life is gradually returning to normal in the area since withdrawal of the invading Israelis and return of administration of the area to Egyptian control.

sufficient to supply the residential needs of a community of 250,000 population.

Scientists see in the atom an almost inexhaustible dirt - cheap source of power—in years to come.

But right now it costs more to produce electricity with atomic energy than it does with coal, oil, gas or water power.

Heart of the revolutionary plant, and the part that makes it different, is the nuclear reactor.

This can be likened to a coal furnace. But instead of coal, the reactor uses uranium as fuel.

Basically, heat produced at the plant by splitting atoms will turn water into steam, driving the turbine generator to produce electricity.

The nuclear reactor is designed to produce heat to provide a minimum generating capacity of 60,000 kilowatts. However, Westinghouse scientists believe substantially more power will be produced, and the generator will have a 100,000-kilowatt capacity.

Sixty thousand kilowatts is sufreplace the core and reactivate the plant.

The plant has been designed for maximum safety.

The reactor core will be enclosed in a cylindrical steel pressure vessel with walls 8½ inches thick. Weight of the vessel is 250 tons, the heaviest single piece of atomic power equipment ever made.

The reactor vessel and the plant's other nuclear components are in four steel containers partially underground and surrounded by concrete walls five feet thick.

An elaborate system has been worked out for disposal of wastes. After processing, will be stored underground in concrete tanks.

About 130 persons will be required to maintain and operate the station. This is approximately twice the number needed for a conventional coal-burning plant.

A training program has been started for future personnel, and more than 50 operating employees already have been assigned to the project.

2 Convicts Shot After Fighting Over Salt

FOLSMO, Calif. (AP) — A dinner table dispute over salt is blamed for a vicious fight that ended with two convicts shot and one minus parts of both ears.

Folsom prison authorities said guards shot and wounded both men Sunday when the convicts ignored loud-speaker demands to stop the fight.

The two, both Negroes, were identified as Albert Johnson, 37, a Los Angeles burglar, and Leonard Thompson, 34, a San Francisco burglar.

Johnson, parts of both ears bitten off during the fight, was treated for gun wounds in the leg and forearm and Johnson for an upper leg wound.

The quarrel started when Thompson refused to pass the salt at dinner.

Boy's Dead Role Almost Becomes A Real One

BRIDGEPORT, W. Va. (AP) — James D. Coston Jr., 15, was playing the part of a dead man in his high school's carnival when the role almost became reality.

Coston "lay in state" with a knife stuck in a board atop his chest to appear as if he had been stabbed. When the knife loosened, he tried to straighten it and accidentally stuck it through the board into his chest.

He was taken to a hospital, where his condition was described as satisfactory.

The American Cancer Society estimates that 450,000 Americans will develop cancer this year but approximately 150,000 will be saved due to improved methods of diagnosis and treatment.

A True Hungarian

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The only time Eva Bartok acts like a Hungarian actress is when people tell her in surprise, "Why, you don't act at all like a Hungarian actress."

That remark causes the slender, dark-eyed star, who was born in Budapest, to blow up a real temperamental storm.

"One Hollywood writer said I was a very unusual Hungarian actress because I wasn't blonde, didn't mangle the English language, and was quiet," she fumed.

"What did they expect me to do—break up all the studio furniture?"

Miss Bartok, who twinkles brightly in the European celluloid sky, recently completed her first American film—an M.G.M. opus called "Ten Thousand Bedrooms" in which she co-stars with Dean Martin.

"It is a nice clean comedy and has nothing to do with bedrooms," she said. "All she did was act in the picture. Somebody else gave it the title. Maybe Jerry Lewis."

Miss Bartok, although she came here to make a single picture, has signed up for another, and is contemplating a TV series that will inevitably be known as "Forever Eva," and tell the story of a young Hungarian girl's struggles in this country.

She feels that this slander on her people has been given currency by playwright Ferenc Molnar's jest that, "Anyone who has a Hungarian for a friend, doesn't need an enemy."

"Molnar shouldn't have said that," she remarked. "Anyway, it is just his version of an old Hungarian joke about Romanians, which every Hungarian schoolchild knows."

"We have another schoolboy joke about what is the difference between a Romanian and a Czechoslovak. The answer is that Eva hopes that meanwhile she can clear up the misconception that Hungarians are a madcap, harum-scarum bunch of footloose Bohemians."

She feels that this slander on her people has been given currency by playwright Ferenc Molnar's jest that, "Anyone who has a Hungarian for a friend, doesn't need an enemy."

"People are individuals, and I hate to generalize. But most Hungarians are generous, talented, love foreigners, and have a good sense of humor. But because they each of them would agree to sell his mother — but only the Romanians would make delivery."

Asked to define the actual virtues and defects of Hungarians, Eva (who is now a British subject) said:

"People are individuals, and I hate to generalize. But most Hungarians are generous, talented, love foreigners, and have a good sense of humor. But because they have known long hardship their jokes are wry — it is a gallows humor."

"On the bad side, Hungarians, particularly in Budapest, are inclined to be sophisticated and cynical and sometimes are a bit — how do you say it — two-faced? But this is because of Hungary's geographical position. They must say things that will please her neighbors on all sides."

The Riverlake Road

Local and Columbiana county officials should keep up their efforts to have the proposed Lake-to-River Road charted closer to Salem, instead of entering the county east of Columbiana village.

County Commissioners Galen Greenisen and
W. A. Hunston, County Engineer Charles O. Snyder and Chamber Secretary Castle Smith have been alert to the situation and have made several trips to Columbus to convince the State Highway Department that their proposal not only is the soundest but is the cheapest.

Engineering surveys, done by the Michael Baker Engineers of Rochester, Pa., show that the riverlake highway through Columbiana County would cost $16,325,854 for a two-lane thoroughfare. If state officials were to adopt the county plan and build the road west of Colum-biania, typography would not be a problem and a saving of about $4 million could be realized in construction costs.

Baker Engineers' own estimates for the commissioners' proposed route would be $12,838,715 as compared to the $16,325,854 for the favored pathway which would run east of Columbiana and then make a wide arc around Youngstown.

Not only would it be cheaper to bring the riverlake road closer to Salem, but, as Commissioner Greenisen and County Engineer Snyder point out, it would serve a more populous area.

Salem, Leetonia, Lisbon and Columbiana, not to mention the heavily populated adjacent districts, would be served advantageously by the more western route.

Since the ultimate plan is to have the river-lake freeway go both to the east and west of Youngstown, why wouldn't it be sensible and more economical to let the riverlake road follow a straight path down from Ashtabula to the Columbiana County line? A look at your map will show you that such a route would bring the highway right smack dab at the point east of Columbiana village which our county officials have suggested.

Youngstown industrial interests would still have the eastern circuit of the riverlake road.

Modern highways can justify their cost only in terms of volume of service they perform. They are built to take care of traffic and this area certainly would contribute a fair share to the riverlake road.

Magsaysay Won Respect

Ramon Magsaysay, whose death has left political leadership in the Philippines in an uproar, was one of a new generation of Asiatic leaders.

He was listened to with respect by the East as well as the West because he had earned respect in both hemispheres; he was no foreign government's puppet.

As the leader of a government which only last summer celebrated the 10th anniversary of its independence, President Magsaysay was a vigorous anti-imperialist, which chiefly meant he was mistrustful of the Soviet Union. Before Russia was the imperialist threat, he was mistrustful of Japan. And before that, when the United States was tardily keeping its promise to give the Philippines their independence, he was mistrustful of this country.

He still was mistrustful last summer, when he completed an agreement that the Philippines should have complete sovereignty over U.S. military bases in the territory under his government's jurisdiction.

His vice president, Carlos Garcia, is believed to share the dead president's views about Russian imperialism. As the new head of the government, Garcia may become another Ramon Magsaysay in his own right. Without a strong leader, the Philippines cannot maintain a secure position under the guns of the Russian expansionists hoping to capture Asia piecemeal.

In Restraint Of Decency

It takes two to make a deal. The West Coast Teamsters are not suspected of having operated alone.

When the Senate rackets investigation rounds out the picture it is painting for Congress, all unionists will see what farsighted unionists have been watching a long time.

It is not so much the possibility of misusing unionism they are fearful of as combinations between bad unionism and bad business in restraint of decency.

That is barred by the AFL-CIO code of ethics.
It is the arrangement many observers accuse
the West Coast Teamsters of bringing to perfection.
It is the arrangement that brings shivers to East Coast students of the methods of James R. Hoffa.

The Teamsters Union, like all large unions, can be expected to have all the patterns and practices of the day in its midst. The purpose of the Senate investigation is to learn about an arrangement whereby union leaders could work with businessmen and politicians in patterns of corruption.

The "division of power" that makes it impossible for one segment of the economy to ride roughshod over other segments could be shattered if the law failed to forbid combinations in restraint of decency as firmly as combinations in restraint of trade.

Bermuda Conference Seen Hastening Recovery

This might be described as the era of fretfulness and irritation in democratic countries. Whether it is Britain with her labor troubles and a financial strain or America with her public complaining about high taxes and big budgets, the picture would be pleasing to the Kremlin in were it not for the fact that a Soviet Russia is having her troubles, too.

A well-ordered existence, free from anxiety and sacrifices of the fruits of one's labor, would be welcome everywhere but the facts of modern life — not always understood by peoples generally — point to the danger of a devastating world war.

Some of their attacks on President Eisenhower personally have been below the belt. This seems like a strange way to "win friends and influence people."

Americans are sympathetic with the plight of Britain and are concerned over the recent decline of the European countries in terms of military potential.

Unquestionably there is still a feeling in London that America let both the British and French down in the Suez affair. But the answer lies in waiting for the later acts to unfold rather than in trying to reach conclusions in the middle of the drama.

The United States is moving cautiously in the Middle East but with the economic leverage possessed by this country, there are signs that the abuses of power by Nasser of Egypt can be curbed without involving America or Britain in a shooting war.

Immediate solutions of knotty problems that face Britain and America will come out of such a conference, irrespective of how hopefully the official communiques may be worded.

Because very day's efforts to prevent it are not spectacular nor easy to explain, too many people in the world go on blissfully thinking we can all get back to "normalcy" by merely wishing problems off the slate.

It is not, therefore, to solve in a few days the big thorny questions of the day but to explain each other's viewpoints on current matters that Prime Minister Macmillan of Great Britain and President Eisenhower sat down together at Bermuda.

Tropical Garden Area Available All Year Long

Homeowners who would like to see a jungle of flowers and plants growing all year in unheated sun porches or enclosed patios can take a tip from commercial flower growers.

Flower growers have found they can produce strong, healthy plant life by burying hot water coils of pipe or copper tubing in the soil of their flower beds. This is similar to the radiant hot water coils buried in a floor for home heating.

The coils, connected to a hot water heating boiler, produce controlled heat for the plant life.

If you have a hot water heating system, it may be possible to hook up a separate circuit of hot water tubing between the heating system main and a flower bed or box in an otherwise unheated area. The area, of course, must be enclosed.

Horticultural experts say certain hearty flowers can survive with air temperatures between 50 and 60 degrees. Ferns and carnations are among them. Other flowers require temperatures between 60 and 75 degrees.

If heat for the entire enclosed porch is desired, a room heat distributor might be practical. In this case, a separate circuit of thin pipe or tubing is connected to either a baseboard, convector or radiator.

A heat distributor is on its own piping circuit, and is controlled by a separate thermostat.

Get Full Use From Your Appliance

Is costly kitchen and laundry room equipment giving full value for your investment? Are various units failing to do their part in saving chores and time?

If the latter is the case, don't blame it on the equipment. It may be a lack of ingenuity on your part. Put your equipment to work for special jobs as well as the ones for which it was intended.

The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association suggests ways to get the most from your gas appliances. To use a gas range on a more efficient service basis:

Use the broiler instead of the toaster, thus preparing toast wholesale for the entire family. Use the oven for cooking vegetables as well as the roast. Put the vegetables in their own casserole after the roast has been in an hour or so, depending on how long it must cook.

How often do you use your clothes dryer other than for drying the laundry? Try drying your silk lampshades in the dryer after they have been cleaned with mild soapsuds. Use the dryer to freshen velvet trimmings on your hat, the high pile on baby's plush animals after they have been washed or even a velvet dress. (Put the dress in a pillow case first. Baste or pin the case together.)

Wrap your white gloves in a damp terry cloth towel, pinning it so it will remain closed. Dry in clothes dryer.

Even your gas incinerator can be enlisted for extra duty. Have you thought of it to handle such seasonal nuisance as fallen leaves in autumn and broken twigs after a winter storm? In many areas it's against the law to burn them outdoors. Let the incinerator take over for you.

Here's How To Remedy Those Squeaking Floors

That harbinger of an old house, a squeaking floor, can be stopped in its tracks with a little care.

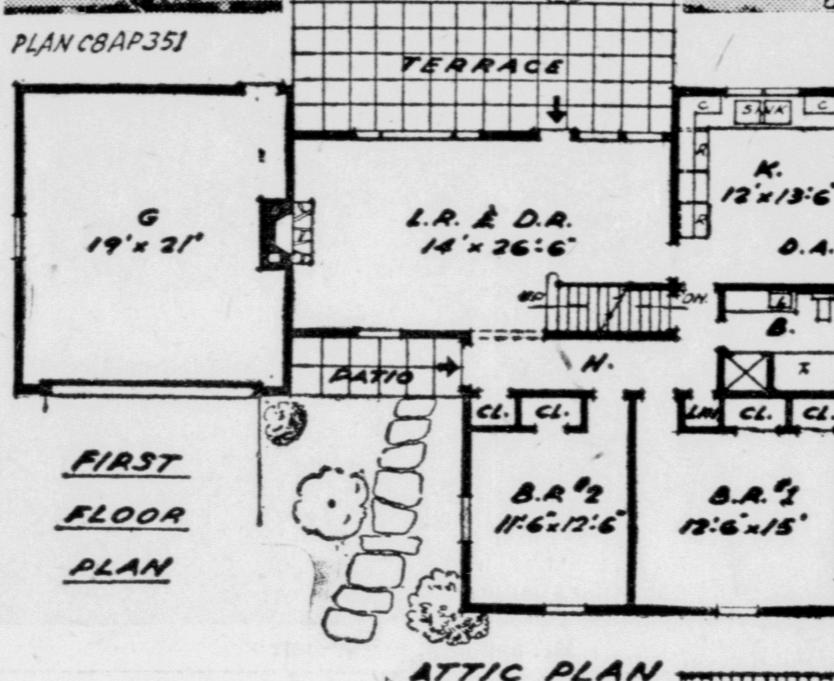

Floor squeaks are caused by shrinkage of wood flooring, according to Home Facts. A board then will rub across the edges of another, squeaking when you step on it.

Home Facts suggests three solutions. You can apply glue if you can reach the underside of the flooring board. Liquid glue may be applied in the joint with an eye dropper.

If the squeak is located near a beam, you can fix this by driving a finishing nail in on an angle. Home Facts suggests you fill the nail hole with putty.

Because of this air conditioning helps mildly keep her home clean.

DESIGNED FOR EXPANSION: This home is laid out to combine contemporary charm with room for expansion. The large living-dining area features almost an entire wall of glass overlooking a terrace. On the upper floor the expansion attic can be finished to give two additional bedrooms and a second bath. The area of the first floor is 1,180 square feet, with 600 additional square feet in the expansion attic. It is plan C8AP351, by E. J. Cappello, architect of 117 West 48th St., New York 36, N. Y.

Keep Windows Shut With Air Conditioner

A brisk walk for a whiff of fresh air may be just a whirl around the living room if you have air conditioning. Outside, the air may be pretty thick with "foreign" gases.

With tons of smoke, ashes, dust, gasoline and oil vapors, ozone and sulfur compounds pouring into our cities' atmosphere, freshness is losing ground.

A study in Los Angeles showed back yard incinerators at one time sent over a hundred tons of "dirt" into the atmosphere each day. Two million cars were pumping 1,200 tons of unburned gasoline plus 300 tons of nitrogen oxide into the air, too.

MEANWHILE, AIR conditioning is helping to filter these objectionable matters from air entering the home.

Because of this air conditioning helps mildly keep her home clean.

combats fatigue during the warmest part of the summer and helps to increase family group activities.

The air conditioned home, according to Carrier Corporation, pioneer air conditioning firm, also has been designed for modern living.

Windows can be grouped for the best light, view, privacy and convenience since they are not required for summer ventilation.

ALL AIR ENTERING the conditioned home is carefully filtered before reaching living spaces. Besides being more healthful, this filtration process substantially reduces routine dusting and vacuuming. Periodic cleaning of rugs, furniture covers and drapes are cut to a minimum. Two pounds of dirt, according to the Lewyt Service Bureau, accumulates in the average home each week.

A study made by the National Association of Home Builders' Research Institute at Austin Village, Tex., a completely air conditioned development, disclosed that only three-quarters of an hour weekly is required for dusting, as opposed to two hours, 35 minutes for dusting in conventional homes in the area.

Fix-It Forum

Q — Can I use any automatic washer for dry cleaning?

A — Absolutely not. Use of flammable cleaning fluids could result in a deadly explosion and even non-flammable fluids would result in extensive damage to rubber and synthetic seals and other parts.

Q — A friend told me that carbon tetrachloride is dangerous to use to remove grease stains. Is this true?

A — Firewise, no. But, like many other substances, it is dangerous to health if improperly handled. Fumes are toxic if inhaled in quantity. Apply to soiled object outside if at all possible, or open windows and doors in room. Wear rubber household gloves when applying it, as many persons' skins are irritated by the fluid.

Marble Can Give Luxury Touch To That New Bathroom

A home needs one and a half baths. One hundred three delegates to the first women's Congress on Housing agreed on this point.

The trend to more baths and larger baths has its effect, too, on what goes into the bath not only in terms of color scheme, utility tops, materials for easy maintenance and, generally, space.

Today's home buyer - builder demands better detailing. But what can those who built or bought their homes in the last 10 years do to add to the appearance of their residences?

In the bath, this may be solved with marble. Marble surrounding the sink will provide that extra touch of luxury so much in demand today. These tops, called vanity or pullman tops, are available in two styles, one lending itself to a modern bath, the other to the traditional bath.

The trend in modern calls for enclosing the area under the sink to provide cabinets down below topped by a flat surface for cosmetics and toiletries on each side of the sink itself.

Once the cabinets are in, a rectangular sink unit with finished edges can be flanked on either side by rectangular marble slabs. The slabs rest on top of the cabinets and can be ordered cut to the proper size at the marble dealers.

The marble edges butting the walls and the sink should be caulked carefully to prevent leakage, and the back of the slab, near the wall, should be elevated slightly lest water collect where the marble meets the wall.

Marble attains a special look when the sink and rack fittings are of solid brass.

MAKE PROVISION

When inserting a wooden dowel into a hole, much of the glue will be squeezed out unless you make some provision for preventing it. You can do this by filing a few ridges into the dowel ahead of time. Also, it's a good idea to make the hole a tiny bit longer than the dowel. In both these cases, you are providing a place for the excess glue.

HOMEMADE COOKIE CUTTERS

Cut the edges from various sizes of food cans with a wall-type can opener so edges are smooth. Keep in a handy kitchen drawer and use as cookie cutters.

Slaying Suspect To Be Quizzed

Woman Identified As St. Louis Divorcee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A self-styled gambler faces lie detector tests today in the strangulation of a pretty divorcee who officials believe may have been murdered in St. Louis, brought 416 miles and dumped in a creek near here.

Jackie Ray Lawson, 27, described as a "cool and cocky egotist," will be questioned further about his relations with 29-year-old Mrs. Credia M. Mallady whose body remained nameless here a week before relatives identified her Saturday.

Lawson, who admits living with the dark-haired woman in St. Louis but says he has not seen her since he left there Feb. 27, was arrested and jailed almost immediately after the identification was considered definite. He was questioned most of Sunday.

Sheriff Ralph J. Paul said Lawson will be taken to the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Identification at London for the tests.

Paul said Mrs. Mallady has never been placed in Columbus in his investigation. Her body, with a plastic clothesline twisted around her neck, wrapped in a bedsheet and stuffed in a sack, was found March 16 in nearby Darby Creek by a group of youths fly fishing. Hundreds of persons examined the body at Franklin County Morgue before relatives identified her.

Mrs. Mallady was identified by her former husband, James Mallady, who flew here from St. Louis; her father, Charles Mullins of Logan, W. Va.; her cousin, Mrs. Eva Turner, of Cleveland, and her brother-in-law, Green Cox of St. Louis, who was first to arrive here to examine the body.

Mrs. Turner telephoned Cox after learning accounts of the case in newspapers.

Lawson, who was arrested at a supermarket here where he was working, said he left Columbus for St. Louis by bus late in January and met Mrs. Mallady several days later, Paul said.

He told authorities he moved into her apartment immediately. He said he lived in St. Louis off money he made gambling and returned to Columbus when he could not find work there.

In St. Louis, police said Lawson and Mrs. Mallady both worked on the same shift at the McDonnell Aircraft Co. there.

In Lawson's apartment, sheriff's deputies found a radio, jewelry, towels, rugs and bedding which Mrs. Mallady's relatives say came from her St. Louis apartment. Lawson said he bought them from her for $15, Paul said.

Lawson also said he loaned Mrs. Mallady $20 on Feb. 24 and that two days later he sold the victim's 1953 car for $670, kept $20 as repayment on the loan and gave Mrs. Mallady $470, the sheriff said. He used the $200 to buy a 1948 car, Lawson told authorities.

The plastic clothesline with which Mrs. Mallady was strangled was identified by her former husband, from whom she was divorced six months ago, as one he had bought some time ago. He also brought with him a dental plate identical to the one Mrs. Mallady had in her mouth.

Lawson told authorities he first was married to Mrs. Mallady's first cousin, Ina Adams, about six years ago but that he divorced her a year ago. Records at Richmond, Ind., near the Ohio border, show that Lawson, the father of a 3-year-old son by his first wife, was married to Geraldeen Evans Feb. 13, 1956. He stated it was his first marriage. They have a son born last Sept. 14.

Mrs. Mallady's body will be released to relatives today and taken to Poplar Bluff, Mo., for services and burial.

One Detail Missed In Plan To Enter School

DALLAS (AP) — Gaston Avenue Junior High School authorities found a map last week that started them thinking. It detailed to the last item a plan to break into the school.

Police traced the map to a 14-year-old student and two young accomplices.

Officers said the map was expertly drawn and didn't overlook a single factor . . . except the youth lost it and school officials found it. The boys said the plot wasn't carried out.

The boy was suspended from the school two weeks ago for failing grades.

Pete's Bad Manners Cost Him His Home

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Young Pete lost his home Sunday with the Frank R. Goodman family, but it helped Melvin's nerves considerably.

Pete became bothersome of late. He took to hiding in closets and snapping at the Goodmans, including their son and daughter. He hissed at Melvin and slipped out for swims in a nearby creek, and that worried fishermen, neighbors and swimmers.

So the Goodmans kept Melvin, the cat, at home, but Pete, a two-foot-long alligator, was given to the Hogle Zoo.

JESUS LOVED THEM

By PATRICK and GARRISON

PILATE'S WIFE

"When he was set down on the judgment seat, his wife sent unto him, saying, Have thou nothing to do with that just man . . ."

—Matthew XXVII:19

Matthew gives us only this brief glimpse into the life of Pilate's wife.

Perhaps her only importance for the writer of the Gospel narrative was that one moment when her life touched that of Jesus and she intervened to save Him because she had "suffered many things this day in a dream because of him."

An apocryphal writer says that her name was Claudia Procula, which suggests that she may have belonged to the noble and influential family of that name in Rome.

The fact that Pilate was able to take her with him to Judea lends support to such a view. There was a Roman law forbidding pro-consuls to take their wives with them when they went to rule in foreign lands.

Her reference to Jesus as "that just man" suggests a previous and accurate knowledge of Him. Had she heard His message, and was she, too, a secret disciple, like Nicodemus?

Such a thing is not impossible. As several historians have pointed out, Roman women of that day were beginning to show a great interest in Eastern faiths, which offered more personal promise and satisfaction than the Latin cults. In Rome itself, a great number of patrician women had been initiated into the Mithraic religion.

Scripture does not tell what Pilate's reaction was to his wife's note. But there is little doubt that it strengthened his own resolve to release Jesus.

The fact that Pilate did not have the personal courage to persist in that resolve, even at the possible cost of losing his own position, was no fault of his wife.

The Greek Orthodox Church thought so highly of Claudia, in fact, that she is revered as a saint by members of that denomination.

May Allow Mexican Girl To Stay In U.S.

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) — A 13-year-old Mexican girl may be able to make the United States her home after all.

Little Mercedes Cota was ordered back to her grandparents in Nogales, Mexico because officials said she was in this country illegally.

Mercedes was brought here 2½ years ago by Mrs. Jeanine Teterick, who said she had the grandparents' permission.

But Miss Gertrude Ramey, head of the children's home where Mercedes has been staying the past four months, said Sunday as soon as the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service completes arrangements, she will accompany Mercedes to Nogales, Ariz.

It was in the Arizona town just across the Mexican border where Mrs. Teterick found Mercedes. She brought the girl here and later was charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency for not sending Mercedes to school.

Mercedes was ordered placed in the Gertrude Ramey Children's Home and the Mexican Embassy in Washington advised "the best thing for all concerned is that she (Mercedes) be returned to her grandparents as soon as possible."

Miss Ramey said Sunday she hopes to be able to talk with Mercedes' grandparents, Angel and Juana Cota of Nogales, Sonora, Mexico.

She wants to arrange for Mercedes to return to the United States legally.

"There have been lots of offers from people who want to be responsible for her," she said.

McCoy Faces Arraignment

2 Countie To Decide Who Will Try Him

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Russell McCoy, brought here quietly from Zanesville, where he is scheduled to go on trial in two weeks for a double slaying, was to be arraigned here today on two first-degree murder charges in another double slaying.

After the arraignment, according to Muskingum County Common Pleas Judge Clarence J. Crossland, prosecuting attorneys of Muskingum and Stark counties will get together to decide where McCoy will be tried. Judge Crossland was scheduled to try the case against McCoy at Zanesville.

But Stark County Sheriff Harry Grossglaus, in revealing that McCoy had been brought here Friday from the Muskingum County Jail, said Muskingum authorities have recognized Stark County's prior claim to McCoy.

Muskingum County authorities have said McCoy signed a lengthy statement admitting killing Reynold Amadio, 30, owner of the County Line Market, and Paul Cain, 35, a clerk in the store near Uniontown in Stark County during a holdup last Nov. 30. That admission came, they said, after McCoy was questioned about the deaths of his half sister, Mrs. Louise See, and her husband, Lloyd, whose bodies, burned beyond recognition, were found at their cabin near Zanesville.

McCoy was quoted by Muskingum County authorities as admitting that he killed the two and set the cabin on fire last Feb. 9.

McCoy pleaded innocent when arraigned in Zanesville.

While four Stark County deputies stood guard outside "to protect the defendant from any animosity that may be prevalent in the area," McCoy Saturday night reenacted for Sheriff Grossglaus the holdup at the County Line Market. The store is on Ohio 8 near the Star-Summit county line.

McCoy's statement implicated a second man in the holdup-slaying, officials said. That man, Harry Dale Bundy, 33, of Zanesville, has been indicted in the slayings. Bundy says he is innocent.

Motherhood Rattles Brooklyn Watchdog

NEW YORK (AP) — A Brooklyn watchdog named Queenie is so rattled by motherhood she can't tell friend from foe.

Queenie, a German Shepherd, and her four new pups remained as quiet as church mice Friday night as burglars rifled a cigarette machine in the restaurant operated by her master, William Wise.

He didn't expect the pups to be alert, but he thought he could count on Queenie.

She was ready Sunday. When a patrolman came to examine the scene of the crime, Queenie bit him on the ankle.

'Block Parent' System Protects School Pupils

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A "block parent" system for protection of schoolchildren from molesters, or in case of injury, is catching on in an area of West Los Angeles.

There are now 83 houses in the Overland Avenue Elementary School area where "block parent" signs are posted in windows. The goal is for 150 in all. The idea is that children going to and from school can take refuge at any "B-P" house.

The signs also mean that the householders are available in case of trouble to call police, parents or an ambulance.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel
The Shoshone Indians must have known that Dave Beck's tribe was a-coming — the good red men called the territory "Oregon," meaning the place of plenty. This the teamsters have taken seriously for some 40 years, a special blood curdling report shows.

No secret report, this. It's just been forgotten, Victor Riesel that's all. But it's there, all 41 pages packed with arson and violence.

True, it's almost 20 years old. But if those inside labor hadn't yawned at it then, in 1938, they might not be gathering in small groups wondering what an angered public will do now.

TODAY it seems that over a million dollars has been "handled" by Western teamster tycoons as though dues collections were a convenience and not a trust.

The teamsters went on a tear in Oregon shortly after that all labor will be blackened and that an angry people will demand drastic laws.

Yet when the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee met on Friday, March 15, in the great new house of labor, there was just passing discussion of the teamsters and, indeed, of the Senate probe itself.

THE EXPOSURES in the Senate hearing room were raised by National Maritime Union leader Joe Curran.

Curran urged action or a probe by labor, or some sort of statement by the guardians of the code of decency. Yet the hours slipped by and nothing was said.

This committee is made up of honest and sophisticated men. Yet they did not act. But their honesty cannot be impugned.

They are as confused and indecisive as a pitcher with three men on and all suddenly stealing the next sack.

BECK'S CHIEF representative, A. E. Rosser, was convicted of arson, while the treasury under his stewardship had unaccounted-for disbursements of over $40,000 for one year alone.

All this was within the boundary of the barony known as the Western Conference of Teamsters.

It did not impede the progress of destiny's man, Dave Beck, or his partner, Frank Brewster, who seems to have preferred the breed of horses to the breed known as the working man.

Beck barked his way to his brand of fame and cash fortune like my old friends on New York's lower east side used to say. Brewster made his Valhalla, the Washington State Racing Commission—appointed by Gov. Mon Wallgren.

The years pass and we find ourselves sitting center table before the celebrity-laden dais at a merry banquet atop the lush Chase Hotel in St. Louis. Though part of this roof garden was covered only by the heavens this balmy Sept. 24, 1953, Beck's voice echoed and reechoed against the skies.

HE HAD BEEN president of the teamsters scarcely a year, yet he had profound things to say at this dinner in his honor — given, of course, by the teamsters.

There is no place in this international union for muscle-men, soft money men, racketeers, or anything that in any way, shape or manner resembles them.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAI constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to STRENGTHEN IT to purge and expels waste from your body.

Tar Heels Beat Kansas 54-53 For NCAA Basketball Title

Game Takes Three Overtimes; Chamberlain Most Valuable

By SKIPPER PATRICK

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The North Carolina Tar Heels defied their percentages and odds to win their first NCAA basketball championship by beating the Kansas Jayhawks 54-53 in a triple-overtime Saturday night.

Hal Jeffcoat, Hearn Off To Slow Starts

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

While it's too early to count all of the picture entirely, indications today were that veteran pitchers Jim Hearn of the Philadelphia Phillies and Hal Jeffcoat of the Cincinnati Redlegs are having trouble getting their arms in condition.

The final game of the NCAA's 19th tournament was a championship test between teams rated No. 1 and No. 2 in the Associated Press poll of sportswriters and sportscasters. And it finished according to the script.

A brief scuffle in the second overtime involving two or three players and both coaches enlivened the proceedings.

The title was decided with six seconds remaining in the third overtime when Joe Quigg, a 6-9 junior from Brooklyn, N.Y., made two free throws. Kansas had the last shot, but Quigg blocked it to insure the Tar Heel victory.

North Carolina played the three overtimes without the services of All America Lennie Rosenbluth, who fouled out with 1:45 remaining in regulation time. His team trailed them by one point 43-44.

It was tied 46-46 after the first 40 minutes, 48-48 after the first overtime and again 48-48 after the second extra session.

Wilt Chamberlain, Kansas All America who was voted the most valuable player of the tournament by the "Sports" leading scorer with 23 points. Rosenbluth had 20.

The San Francisco Dons, champions the last two years, defeated Michigan State 67-60 for third place.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Manager Kerby Farrell blames the Cleveland Indians' poor hitting in the exhibition games on "takin' too many good pitches."

The Tribe has been held to an average of six hits a game in the last six games.

Rookie catcher Russ Nixon has been recovered from a badly bruised left thumb when he was struck down again by another of a series of injuries that have plagued him over the years.

While working out in the outfield before Sunday's game with the Dodgers in Miami, Mantle ran into a hole in the turf and suffered a severely strained ligament.

"These things usually heal quickly," said Dr. Sydney Gaynor, the Yanks' team physician, who rushed Mantle to a local hospital for X-rays. "He may be able to run it in five days or so."

But Dr. Gaynor cautioned against overoptimism, pointing out that it is possible that Mantle will be out of uniform for a good week. He could not say when he will be able to resume full-scale training, but most observers thought it would be about 10 days.

Says Doctor Made Changes In Alleged Slaying Victim's Will

LONDON (UPI)—A jury trying Dr. John Bodkin Adams for murder was told today the society physician arranged a change in the will of the old lady he is accused of drugging to death.

Hubert Sogno, a lawyer who

Man Suspected Of Spying Kills Self

BERN, Switzerland (UPI)—Suspicion that he spied against Egypt for France is blamed for the suicide of Atty. Gen. Rene Dubois.

The government announced that the 48-year-old official killed himself Saturday night in his attic with his army pistol.

Dubois got involved in a police probe of espionage at the Egyptian Embassy here. The government emphasized that there was no suggestion he had spied against Switzerland. However, spying against any government is a criminal offense in this neutral country.

A long investigation, initiated in November during the Suez crisis, stemmed from complaints by the Egyptian Embassy that its telephone conversations apparently were being tapped. Federal Police Inspector Max Ulrich, who had access to wire tapping for counterespionage work, was grilled intensively.

The government said there was "some noteworthy evidence that the attorney general himself may have passed information not concerning Swiss affairs illegally to foreign quarters."

Parliament elected him attorney general in July 1955. He was a Social Democrat and received Socialist support in obtaining the post.

Hubbard Man Named Assistant To O'Neill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Appointment of William S. Davis Jr., 31, Hubbard, Ohio, as his administrative assistant was announced today by Atty. Gen. William Saxbe.

Davis formerly practiced law with the firm of Henderson and Covington in Youngstown, Ohio. More recently he was on the legal staff of the Federal Communications Commission in Washington handled financial affairs for Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell, testified the bachelor doctor called on him and said the 81-year-old widow had promised him gifts but forgot to include them in her will.

The gifts were her Rolls Royce car and "contents of a case in locked box at the bank."

The lawyer, appearing for the prosecution, testified:

"He (Adams) said although Mrs. Morrell was very ill her mind was perfectly clear and he had no doubt she was in a fit state to make a codicil on a new will."

The lawyer said Dr. Adams first approached him in March 1950 and that a new will was drawn up in August—three months before the widow died.

The prosecution charges the doctor killed her with an overdose of drugs when she threatened to change the will again cutting him out entirely.

Under the will the defendant was bequeathed a chest of silver. The Rolls Royce was left her son but he gave it to the doctor when his mother died.

Under cross examination by defense counsel, Sogno agreed that Mrs. Morrell made at least six wills and that "she certainly wanted everything done without delays always."

Mrs. Brenda Hughes, one of the nurses who cared for Mrs. Morrell testified the patient climbed out of bed in a restless mood four days before she died.

Plans Are Completed For Safety Banquet

The Columbian County Safety Committee will hold its annual banquet tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. in the Masonic Temple.

Awards for outstanding safety work in the county during 1956 will be presented, and a "Nick O'Time" award will be presented to Peter Gonatas of the Damascus Road.

James E. Gheen of New York City, noted philosopher and humorist, will be the principal speaker.

New Superroad To Be Built In Ohio This Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The state will begin construction of a superhighway from Cincinnati to Columbus in northeastern Ohio this summer.

That was disclosed today by Ohio's Highway Chief, Charles M. Noble, at a press conference that followed disclosure by Gov. C. William O'Neill Ohio will spend $50 million dollars or more on highways in the next two years.

Noble said consulting engineers will have their first construction plans ready between May 15 and May 31. Contracts for actual work can be awarded two months later, Noble said.

The route originally was to have been built as a toll road, but that plan was rejected. Then the Ohio Department of Highways decided to build it as a freeway.

Gators are using bank records and other sources to trace the money.

Meantime, Beck came in for heavy criticism from AFL-CIO Vice Presidents Walter Reuther and James B. Carey.

Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, issued a statement

Saturday calling Beck's use of union fund "highly improper, inexcusable and morally indefensible."

Then Sunday, he said during a television interview that if Beck "uses the Fifth Amendment as it relates to financial matters and matters of his obligations to his union . . . (he) should be removed from the Executive Council of the AFL-CIO."

Leading TV Writer Plans More Plays

Although it's a couple of years since Paddy Chayefsky wrote a television drama, he is generally recognized as our leading TV dramatist. The reason is ironic.

Chayefsky has had greater success than other TV writers in transforming his television dramas into motion pictures and the theater. His "Marty" was both a prize-winning movie and a box office hit. His "Middle of the Night" was the first and, for a long time, the only TV property to make it as a play on Broadway.

Trade publication reviews in advance of next month's opening of his TV-based movie, "Bachelor Party," are as they say in the trade—raves.

This happy state of affairs has resulted in Chayefsky being a widely discussed American writer.

You hear, for example, that he is (A) never going to write for TV again, (B) demanding huge sums for scripts, (C) going to write a series about a psychiatrist or something.

Chayefsky, 34, a genial, stocky, meticulous craftsman, a doting parent and quiet citizen, is baffled by all this hullabaloo. He said the other day:

"(A) 'Of course I'm not through with television. An hour TV drama is perfect for my kind of thinking; in writing I'm a short story thinker, not a novel type of thinker. But it will be a while before I can get back to it. Right now I'm working on my first original movie script, which is tentatively titled 'The Goddess,' and after that I'm going to do a movie adaptation of 'Middle of the Night.'

"(B) 'I don't know who started that rumor about my wanting a big fat fee to do a TV script. I don't want a cent more than the prevailing script rate. But I do want absolute guarantee that nobody can tamper with my script. I want the right of consultation on casting.'

"(C) 'After I've finished the movie adaptation of 'Middle of the Night' I plan to start on a dramatic series. It will be live and have the cooperation of the American Psychiatric Assn. Maybe that's how the rumor got started. I was going to write about a psychiatrist or something. That's not true. The theme of the series will be the problems of man in our current society.'

Services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Stark Memorial, with Rev. William Snowball officiating. Interment will be in Deerfield Cemetery.

Friends may call at the memorial Tuesday evening.
